HIV LAWS IMPOSING CRIMINAL PENALTIES (35 total) †

Each state or territory, in addition to the federal government, that has an HIV-specific misdemeanor or felony law for one or more of the behaviors below qualifies as a state or territory with an HIV law imposing criminal penalties. A law is HIV-specific if it explicitly targets HIV, whether or not it targets other diseases as well. Where not otherwise noted, these laws appear in criminal codes. In some jurisdictions, some or all of these HIV-specific laws imposing criminal penalties appear in public health codes; these 11 jurisdictions are marked with Ω.

Alabama									Misdemeanor				PLHIV have been prosecuted under a criminal law for "assault with bodily fluids," which carries a felony enhancement if the defendant has any "communicable disease."
Alaska					Yes	Felony
Arizona									Misdemeanor
Arkansas	Yes	Yes	Yes			Felony					Yes	Yes	It is also a misdemeanor for PLHIV to receive medical or dental care without disclosing positive status.
California					Yes	Felony			Misdemeanor	Misdemeanor		Yes
Colorado					Yes	Felony						Yes
Connecticut													A person housed in a correctional facility may be barred from release based on infection with a venereal disease.
Delaware Ω				Yes		Felony
District of Columbia
Florida Ω	Yes			Yes	Yes	Felony			Misdemeanor			Yes
Georgia	Yes	Yes	Yes ★	Yes	Yes	Felony	Yes					Yes
Hawaii
Idaho Ω	Yes	Yes	Yes ★	Yes		Felony			Misdemeanor				While Idaho does not include hepatitis alongside HIV in its exposure law, the state does have a statute indicating it is unlawful for anyone infected with hepatitis B virus (HBV) to "knowingly expose another person." HIV, syphilis, gonorrhea, and chlamydia are also included in this same law. Subsequent code sections specify, first, misdemeanor penalties for syphilis and gonorrhea, and, secondly, felony penalties for HIV. Thus, penalties for HBV are not specified, making it unclear how exactly exposure to HBV is treated under the law.
Illinois	Yes		Yes ★	Yes	Yes	Felony
Indiana Ω	Yes	Yes	Yes ★	Yes	Yes	Felony/Misdemeanor	Yes					Yes
Iowa	Yes		Yes	Yes		Felony/Misdemeanor	Yes		Misdemeanor				Iowa's exposure law criminalizes exposing another to a "contagious or infectious disease," which is defined to include HIV in addition to hepatitis, tuberculosis, and meningococcal disease. Therefore, Iowa's law is HIV-specific, although its application is not limited to HIV.
Kansas										Felony			Kansas's STI felony criminalizes exposing another to a "life-threatening communicable disease" via sex, needle sharing, or blood/organ/semen donation.
Kentucky				Yes	Yes	Felony/Misdemeanor						Yes	Kentucky has a spit/bite/blood exposure statute, but it is not HIV-specific.
Louisiana	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes		Felony			Infraction, Misdemeanor		Yes	Yes	Louisiana has a broad exposure statute that targets exposure "through any means or contact," though certain defenses are enumerated.

Vermont										Misdemeanor			Yes
Virginia Ω	Yes			Yes			Felony, Misdemeanor	Yes					Yes	Virginia's donation statute applies to HIV exclusively and appears in its health code, while its sexual exposure ("infected sexual battery") statute applies to HIV, hepatitis B, and syphilis and appears in the criminal code.
Washington Ω	Yes						Felony, Misdemeanor					Yes		Washington's misdemeanor exposure statute appears in the health code and does not require sex offender registration (SOR). The criminal first-degree assault statute, however, imposes felony penalties for transmitting HIV to a child or vulnerable adult. Only this offense requires SOR.
West Virginia										Misdemeanor				West Virginia's general STI law imposes a maximum penalty of $100 and 30 days imprisonment for exposing another to a venereal disease, without specifically naming any STIs. However, West Virginia's STD Program monitors both HIV and hepatitis B virus (HBV), among other STIs, and this offers some indication that exposing others to either HIV or HBV could be punished under the law.
Wisconsin						Yes	Felony			Misdemeanor			Yes	Wisconsin's aggravating factors statute includes HIV by name as well as "sexually transmitted disease."

† Of these 35 jurisdictions, all but two have felony HIV offenses (or relate to felony convictions in the case of sentence enhancement laws). Maryland has a misdemeanor law, as does North Carolina, although in North Carolina the punishment is up to two years, which is greater than the maximum for a misdemeanor in most states.

‡ The only laws included in these columns are those under public health codes that impose criminal punishment for exposure or transmission of STIs including HIV or STIs in general (not laws that impose other measures for HIV or STIs, or laws that impose criminal punishment for not following health orders). These laws are predominantly misdemeanors. Oregon's law is a class C felony.

★ These jurisdictions have provisions specifically criminalizing syringe sharing or sale by PLHIV, most of which impose felony penalties. This is in contrast to states with HIV-specific laws that do not explicitly target this type of exposure, but contain language that can be (and in § In Tennessee, a person living with hepatitis B or C virus convicted of criminal exposure (via sexual, needle sharing, or organ/tissue/blood/semen donation exposure) is required to register as a sex offender. People living with HIV are required to register for this offense as well, and they are also required to register if convicted of aggravated prostitution (Tennessee's HIV-specific sex work law).
